Jason Wietholter is the Chief Executive Officer and a Senior Consultant for Opveon Litigation Services, a litigation support and trial consulting firm who employs a high-octane mix of technology gurus, trial strategy experts, creative problem solvers, and customer service fanatics focused on serving the needs of litigators and law firms.

Having consulted on hundreds of cases and having worked closely with dozens of trial teams, Jason's reputation has afforded him the opportunity to work with some of the best lawyers and law firms across the nation and around the globe with case experience that spans the gamut.

From personal injury to products liability, from employment law to complex commercial litigation, as well as, white collar criminal defense, securities cases, and intellectual property matters. Jason's litigation experience along with his technological and marketing expertise makes him an outstanding addition to any trial team no matter if the case is set to last 3 days or 3 months.

Jason focuses his practice on crafting compelling presentations through the use of trial presentation software, demonstrative aids and advanced technology tools.

Jason is also the Chief Executive Officer of the American Guild of Court Videographers, the only entity of its kind that is focused on the profession of legal videography. The AGCV is dedicated to the promotion, training and development of the standards for legal videographers across the nation and around the world.
